Gut Flora Complex

Support for Healthy Intestinal Function

What exactly is gut flora? Put simply, it's the trillions of microorganisms that inhabit everyone's digestive system. Among other things, our gut flora are naturally made up of bacteria – both good and bad. The good gut flora work to keep us well, by keeping our natural bacteria in a healthy balance. However, sometimes our bodies need a little help.

Many things can upset the balance of our gut flora, including the stress of our busy lives, digestive upset, taking some medications, feeling run down, not eating properly, or not taking care of ourselves.

MediHerb® Gut Flora Complex provides support for gastrointestinal tract health. By helping to maintain optimal gut flora, it can help relieve the occasional discomfort of gastrointestinal bloating and flatulence, and work to support our overall well-being and vitality.*

What is Gut Flora Complex?

MediHerb® Gut Flora Complex is a uniquely formulated combination of Oregano and Aniseed essential oils, with Andrographis and Phellodendron herbal extracts. These potent, traditionally used ingredients work to help maintain beneficial gut flora.*

Who Benefits from Gut Flora Complex?

Maintaining the proper balance of gut flora is important for keeping us well.

In our modern world, just about everyone could use some gastrointestinal support. If you experience stress, digestive upset, or don't eat as well as you should, chances are you could benefit from Gut Flora Complex. Your health care professional may recommend Gut Flora Complex as part of a protocol to help maintain a healthy balance of gastrointestinal flora.*

The traditionally used herbs in Gut Flora Complex work to:

- ✓ Cleanse and promote healthy function of the gastrointestinal tract*
- ✓ Encourage a healthy intestinal environment by helping to maintain optimal gut (intestinal) flora*
- ✓ Support a healthy immune system*
- ✓ Relieve occasional mild gastrointestinal discomfort including bloating and flatulence.*
